Practicing in a Changed World

The evolution of clinical practice has elevated us into practicing in one of the most challenging and gratifying periods of time to date. The world we once knew has changed. Through knowledge shared with a receptive public, we are in a powerful position to take our practice and our patient's health to the next level.

It's Showtime! The Life of a Dental Professional

Dentistry provides us with the ultimate gratification any human can desire and that is to serve others, however this comes with a cost. Rest and self-care are vitally important to self-preservation. We cannot serve from an empty vessel. Through a highly interactive presentation style, attendees will explore the areas of their life that impact energy and healing.
